Dear Mario,

Thank you for your hard work this semester developing and testing a case analysis tool for use in our law office.

It was interesting to discuss this project with you and watch it develop from an idea into a working application.

I look forward to your continued development of the “PreDicta” program. The tool shows potential to help assess and eliminate cases with liability concerns and therefore save us time. It’s also useful for quickly summarizing and identifying legal issues on cases for follow up on by an attorney.

We thank you for dedicating your time towards enhancing the law firm's case review process, and eagerly anticipate any further enhancements (assuming, of course, that AI doesn't replace us in the near future).

Happy to stay involved if you decide to continue working on this project after the semester.

Happy holidays,

Samuel Hirl, Esq.
